

Join Our Nationwide Pride Project: Exciting Opportunities for Students in Masters in Archival Studies or future emerging curators!

Are you an student specializing in archival, curatorial, mixed media or photography studies? Join us in shaping a landmark initiative: Joy. Sorrow. Anger. Love. Pride. This unique opportunity allows you to dive deep into your province's Pride history while collaborating with peers and professionals across Canada. Why Join?

Hands-On Experience: Work directly with archival materials, helping to handle, select, document, and curate Pride artifacts from your province.

Collaborative Teamwork: Connect with a team of students and archival staff nationwide, sharing insights and ideas.

Flexible Scheduling: Hours are adaptable to fit your availability, based on project needs.

Paid Opportunity: Earn $18 per hour while gaining invaluable professional experience.

Mentorship & Growth: Be part of a supportive community with regular check-ins and guidance from experts.

How to Apply

Opportunities are still available for students in select provinces (see the visual included). To express your interest or learn more, email us at info@magentafoundation.org

Discover More

Explore the impact of our Toronto Pride exhibition and publication here:

Page overview: <https://www.magentafoundation.org/toronto-pride/>

Publication: <https://www.magentafoundation.org/publication/joy-sorrow-anger-love-pride/>

Exhibition Photos: <https://www.magentafoundation.org/photos/joy-sorrow-anger-love-pride/>

We can't wait to meet you.